BUILDING WAS LIABLE TO FALL.

Woodward & Tiernan Printing
Co. Compelled to Close.

WALLS WERE GIVING WAY.

By the Advice of Architect Taylor the 850 Employees Were Sent Home
Till Repairs Are Made.

Workmen employed in putting in the foundation for an immense 250 horse-power engine in the cellar of the Woodward & Tiernan Printing Co.'s establishment, 200 to 210 North Third-street, undermined one of the columns supporting the building, and the total collapse of the structure was narrowly averted.

The work was begun Saturday and progressed nicely until Monday morning, when the earth under the column gave way, and the floor sagged several inches. Every body on the lower floors became frightened, and Architect Isaac Taylor, who designed the building, was sent for. He pronounced the place unsafe.

The machinery was stopped and the 850 employees were laid off until the dangerous condition of the building could be altered. Chief Swingley, of the fire department, was immediately notified and firemen were hurriedly sent to the scene to render whatever service they might be able. It was found they could do nothing, however, and they were recalled.

The dangerous condition of the building was caused by the men digging out a hole 10 feet deep by about 16 feet long and 4 feet wide alongside one of the main columns supporting the upper floors. This was to be filled with concrete for the big engine to rest upon.

No sooner had the earth been removed from near the base of the column than the earth under it began to give way and slide into the hole. This caused the floor to sag, and had not the trouble been instantly remedied the building would have been wrecked. Upon the advice of Mr. Taylor the workmen at once began to fill in the hole with concrete. When this is completed the danger of the earth supporting the column sliding any further will be over, and the building will be safe enough to proceed with the work of lining up the sunken floors.

Rankin & Fritsch, the North St. Louis steam engine builders, are the contractors who are putting in the new engine. Their contract includes the laying of the foundation and putting the new machine in readiness to run. In digging out for the concrete bed for the engine, the men developed eight feet, while the ground on which the supports of the building rests is only four feet below the surface.

Woodward & Tiernan is the largest printing establishment in America, occupying a six-story building with a frontage on Third street of about 150 feet.

IN THE COURT OF APPEALS.

Federal Tribunal Upholds Mrs. Florida's Insurance Verdict.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals Monday affirmed the judgment of the trial court in favor of Nancy K. Florida against the Aetna Life Insurance Co. on two policies on her husband's life, aggregating $15,000. Alfonso K. Florida took exception to the verdict, and the case came on for appeal.

Judge Thayer, who wrote the opinion of the appellate court, discussed this objection and said in conclusion:

"Upon the whole, therefore, we conclude that the state statute should be construed to mean that hereafter it shall be no defense to a suit upon a policy of life insurance that the insured committed suicide, unless it shall be proven to the satisfaction of the court or jury that the insured was not sane at the time he made his application for the policy. This, as we understand the law, is the view that was entertained by the trial court and substantially expressed in its instruction and in this declaring the law no error was committed."

The judgment obtained by the H. T. Simon-Gregory Dry Goods Co. against W. T. Williams on an attachment bond for $2,000 was affirmed. The same day that W. T. Nesbit, an Arkansas merchant, gave the Simon-Gregory company a bill of sale on his stock, the Schwab Clothing Co. filed an attachment with Williams as a bondsmen.

The judgment for $21,947.77, obtained by Anthony J. Drexel's executors and trustees against the Minnesota Title, Insurance and Trust Co., was affirmed. Anthony J. Drexel loaned $55,000 on Minneapolis property and got the defendant to guarantee him against loss. Mechanics' liens for $31,947.77 were declared to be prior to Drexel's mortgage and his estate had to pay the amount.

WILL BE INVESTIGATED.

Detective Kelleher's Assault on George
Maloney Heard Before Chief Harrigan.

The father of George, alias "Red" Maloney, has made a complaint to Chief Harrigan against Detective Kelleher, charging him with brutally beating his son last Thursday night. Kelleher's account of the affair is that when he went home that evening he learned that Maloney had assaulted his 16-year-old son with a brick earlier in the evening, injuring her severely. He arrested the boy, and the latter refused to such an extent that he was obliged to beat him into submission. Maloney was sent to the City Jail with seven scalp wounds. Kelleher afterwards secured a warrant against Maloney, charging him with assault to kill. Maloney's father denies that his son assaulted the detective's sister and states that Kelleher beat his son without provocation. Chief Harrigan will conduct a rigid investigation.

His Ride Interfered With.

"Those guys can't run no bug on me, I'm from de Bowery, see!" Wildly flourishing a revolver Emil Enstall made this remark at Broadway and Andes street Sunday afternoon. He was about to ride away on a bicycle belonging to Ernest Talion, when Talion and another man intercepted him. A police officer placed Enstall under arrest. Judge Stevenson tried to discourage any future "Bowery" demonstrations by fining him $10 this morning.

STARK'S OPINION

But No Intimation of Its Tenor
Will Be Allowed to Leak Out.

The cloud of doubt which for these many weeks has enveloped the intention of the School Board in the matter of calling an election for directors is as thick and impenetrable to-day as ever. The Election Committee will meet Tuesday at 4 p. m. to receive the opinion asked of Attorney Chas. E. Stark on the legal questions which have been referred to him by the board.

These points are: Has the board the power to order an election under the new law independent of the Board of Election Commissioners, and can it accept as complete the registration lists as made up when the office of Recorder of Voters expired on August 23, at which time registration of qualified voters of the thousands of qualified voters off the lists, who will thus be disfranchised unless the School Board is empowered to enroll them.

Attorney Stark has had these questions under advisement for nearly two weeks, and has gone extensively into all the laws bearing on them and has prepared his opinion with great care and deliberation. The Election Committee will be governed in its recommendation to the full board as to the ordering of an election on the first Tuesday in November by Judge Stark's opinion. What that opinion is, no one but Judge Stark and Stark's counsel know. He closely guards all such matters and refused point blank Monday morning to give a Post-Dispatch reporter the least hint as to its nature.

Whatever it may be, it isn't absolutely certain that it will govern the School Board. Though it will determine the character of the report to be made by the Election Committee, if it be favorable to an election, the Board may take it into its head to go counter to its attorney's opinion and refuse to order election, and vice versa. The balance of opinion among those who have talked with a majority of members of the School Board is that Attorney Stark's opinion will sustain the contention for an election on the first Tuesday in November and that the board will call it, arrogating to itself the power to make provision for the registration of all voters who did not get their names on the list before they were closed by the expiration of the Recorder of Voters' office.

Eleven school directors are to be elected to fill vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of the following members: F. W. Brookman, Chas. H. Huttig and Wm. E. Landvoigt, at large; John Brady, First District; Henry Adams, Second District; Henry Troil, resigned, of the Third District. The courts, too, may decide that there is a vacancy in the Fourth District. The place is now held by Henry Bus, who, when appointed Chief Deputy by Sheriff Troil, who resigned his position in the Board to accept the Sheriffalty, had to mandamus the Board from voting him out of it. The case is now pending in the Circuit Court and will be decided at the October term.

It is understood that nearly all of the present members will be candidates for re-election, and up to date very few have begun to make any arrangements for the coming year. Secretary Player says that no nominations by petition, as the law directs, have as yet been made, and that only two inquiries as to how to proceed to get their names on the ticket have been made by prospective candidates. Fears that there is going to be no very great scramble for the places, or if there is to be those who are after them are making "still hunts." There are no fat contracts at the board's disposal in sight to induce the statement to great activity to procure the honor of re-election, though the ever-present text book contract will come up again in three years. It may be, when the statement first out the full meaning of this, they will "hump" themselves and make the campaign lively.

LESS BROS.' FAILURE.

The Inventory Forecloses Little Hope for General Creditors.

The failure of Less Bros. & Co. Saturday developed a different phase Monday morning. The work of taking an inventory of the stock in the store, which was valued at $100,000, as the chattel mortgage given to the Bank of the Republic for $25,000, there will be little hope for general creditors. The total liabilities of the firm are said to amount to $140,000. In addition to the attachments issued Saturday, Wednesday, $7,748.82, another attachment was issued Monday morning for $28,838 by the Bank of the Republic. These attachments can only participate in any surplus over the $7,000 chattel mortgage.

A member of the firm has made the statement that the failure was caused by heavy losses from bad accounts and the loss of $6,000 on the lease of the building, 701 Washington avenue, from which the firm removed about one year ago.

It is stated that a proposition will be made to creditors outside of the bank for a settlement of 25 to 30 per cent on the dollar.

A Grand Millinery Opening.

If you have not already planned to go down town on Tuesday morning to see Mr. Green & Son will regret for the first time, in their millinery parlor on Broadway, southwest corner of Washington avenue, the exquisite millinery goods, and beautiful pattern hats which they have selected from the best work shops of Paris, London and New York. There will be no other designs in the window, but they will be dressed with that taste which makes their window dressing always attractive and you will see some of the choicest confections. In the way of hats and bonnets, that have found their way across the water this season. After taking all of this in, go inside and examine critically the millinery goods, hats, steel braids, feathers, ribbons, all of the dainty trifles which go to make up a hat for my lady. Then if you do not feel that you can afford a Wig or a Joke or a Ribbon, you can choose your style and your materials; set your price and trust to the skill of the milliner to make you a hat which will be in her happy days. It is very odd and picturesque, made of black velvet, very broad of brim and faced with green velvet. A rill of Renaissance lace is carried around the brim and forms loops at the back. Three long plumes stand high in front, and out steel buckles are effectively used. This is from Mrs. Hottel-Boyer, and a little Paquin collar of black velvet edged with Renaissance lace, with a high collar of black lace, goes with it. Jewel represented by a soft turban crowned with rich Persian silk, combined with dainty velvet, wired with lace, standing with like quills at the side. The Napoleon effects are still in favor, and a very stylish model is shown in black velvet, and the black hair lace which is one of this season's novelties. A Francois hat has a full crown of white Liberty satin, covered with white and plique lace, the brim of fine purple felt, and the trimming high black plumes. See the black feather boss which goes so well with all of these hats, and there are also Montgolfier bonnets almost as pretty and as serviceable. Do not fail to see the beautiful little silk and the trimmed bonnets for the little ones, all about all colors, and a dozen or more styles. You can not take all of these things in an Tuesday. Go again on Wednesday.

National Holiness Camp.

A special meeting will be held at First Church Mission, 142 Franklin avenue, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of securing funds for the National Holiness camp-meeting to be held here next July. At a previous meeting officers were elected: Dr. W. L. Ross, President; S. E. Durkin, Vice-President; C. C. Bailey, Secretary, and Rev. J. M. Smith, Treasurer. Over $200 was secured toward the $2,000 needed.

RECOVERED BICYCLES.

The police recovered two stolen bicycles Sunday, one from Mrs. McGonigle, 324 Chestnut street, and the other from Richard Cullen, 217 South Leavenworth street. The wheels were stolen by James Drake, who sold them to the above parties. Drake was arrested Saturday night.

SOMETHING ENTIRELY NEW.

The demand for something different in the way of Home Decoration is constantly growing. This fall the rage is for Blue and White. In Draperies, China and Decoration. The ingenious Japanese have furnished many quaint ideas, which are not all storks on one leg nor hideous dragons. Their latest idea is the most artistic of all. The designs are conventional Floral and Empire effects in Curtains and Draperies, and are called

TOKIO CREPE.

The Curtains are made up in proper lengths, fringed complete, ready for hanging in Doors and French Windows. The ground is a rough White Crepe, indelibly printed in two shades of blue. The effect is tasty and decorative. These Curtains will wash perfectly. Price is moderate—$6.50 per pair. There is a Mantel Lambrequin to match, which is also inexpensive.

DERBY CURTAINS.

We have several grades of this popular kind, not a thread of silk in them, but the effect is rich and glossy. It is the most clever substitute for expensive Silk Curtains that has ever been made. All we have are choice patterns.

Some of the $4.50 kind at $2.75
Some of the $6.50 kind at $4.50

SILK CURTAINS

Are not so expensive as they were. We are selling some exquisite $10 grades at $6.50.

COUCH COVERS.

Some handsome Tapestries, made up with fringe all around, some of them plain, Oriental, Empire and Early English patterns. $5.00 kind at $3.00.

A WORD ABOUT CARPETS.

We know we have every desirable pattern in every desirable grade of every possible weave and texture. We handle all the finest standard Carpets of the best known and most reliable manufacturers and have all of the new designs. You can't go astray, if you need a carpet. We have them all, and our prices are notably reasonable.

DUNRAVEN EXPLAINS

Why He Declined to Race Valkyrie
Against Defender.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Dunraven's letter to the New York Yacht Club's Cup Committee is published here to-day. It gives the writer's reasons for withdrawing from the contest with Defender. It is dated Sept. 13, and the portions of chief interest follow:

"I hold that in any match a fair field and no favor is the condition precedent to any agreement as to the terms, and, failing in that, any party has a perfect right to withdraw absolutely and unconditionally. In that case the committee had come to definite conclusions upon the letter. I now conclude, from your communication, that they were officially reversing the committee. In that case the proposal made by the committee was that I should withdraw from the determination expressed in my letter of the 10th inst., and that I should sail in the third and possibly in the final race, on condition that sufficient room was secured at the start and in further races. My suggestion that the date of the race and that the point of starting should not be made public could not be carried out.

"That proposal did not commend itself to me. No one denied the overweighing of the course. But, in my case, either my complaint was, in the opinion of the committee, unjustifiable, in which case I could not have agreed with them and should have withdrawn, being fully convinced of the necessity and prepared to take the full responsibility for doing so, or it was justifiable, in which latter case the committee, I think, was bound to give redress before the next race was sailed.

"I so far withdrew my letter of the 10th inst. as to say that I would sail the third race if the committee would undertake to declare the race void if, in its judgment, either vessel was interfered with by the steamer, the committee putting anybody in the way of the race. I was willing to leave the matter in its hands, stipulating only that they put an experienced and professional yachtsman on Valkyrie III. As far as I am concerned I have no wish to continue the discussion, which you accurately described as superfluous, and will conclude by expressing regret that, if any desire to recall Thursday's race was known to exist, the Regatta Committee did not order it recalled under article 10 of the New York Yacht Club regulations, under which course, whatever my opinion as to the cause of the foul may be, I should have been at the disposal of the committee; and that the Club Committee could not see the way to adopting what it appears to us the simpler course of holding the letter 'G' yesterday and postponing the race to such time as it had arrived at a definite conclusion upon my letter of the 10th inst."

Young Pickpocket Arrested.

Pat White, 16 years old, but wayward, is in jail on a warrant charging him with pickpocketing. A band of music was discoursing along Franklin avenue Saturday night. Patrick stole a purse from the pocket of Mrs. J. Shapiro, of 1074 Franklin avenue. He was seen by Detective Ziegler and arrested.

Wants Her Husband Rejoined.

Mary Ryan has sued her husband, Timothy, 2712 La Salle street, to prevent him from drawing the rent on certain real estate. She alleges that he spends the money for liquor and that she derives no benefit from the property, which she purchased with her own money. The property has been under her husband's control but he has failed to pay the taxes or otherwise care for it. She wants him enjoined from interfering in any way with her management of the property.

MR. PULITZER AND THE POST-DISPATCH.
As a balm to the lacerated feelings of esteemed contemporaries who are grieved with envy at the wonderful growth and prosperity of the Post-Dispatch we again direct attention to the fact that Mr. Pulitzer is not responsible for and has no control over the columns of the Post-Dispatch.

Mr. Pulitzer has already made this announcement over his own signature. We reproduce it from the issue of the Post-Dispatch of September 14, 1895:

ANNOUNCEMENT.
Continued ill-health and loss of sight have rendered it impossible for me to give personal attention to the conduct of the Post-Dispatch. I have not been able even to visit the city for many years past.

Authority implies duty. I relinquish duties to which I am physically no longer equal at a distance, and responsibilities which should only accompany the actual supervision of affairs.

With this day Col. Charles H. Jones, having acquired a proprietary interest in the Post-Dispatch, becomes its Editor and Manager with RESPONSIBILITY AND CONTROL OVER ITS COLUMNS. In facilitating the return of Col. Jones to the field of his former labors I feel that I am not only placing this journal in able hands, but am conferring a benefit on the city. His course and management against every form of public wrong, his effective championship of local interests and his natural Democratic instincts are known to me. He will conduct the paper on the line of its successful record, infusing into its management new blood and fresh energy.

He will continue the paper's battle for that which is true and enlightened, all that is humane and progressive, all that is just, moral and intelligently conservative in government and society. He is in sympathy with the traditions and convictions of the paper. He will enlist in the ever-continuing struggle against Hypocrisy, Privilege, Class and Corruption, and above all he is pledged to maintain the fearless and absolute independence of the paper. JOSEPH PULITZER.

It will be observed that Mr. Pulitzer says expressly and explicitly that he has withdrawn from St. Louis journalism; that he relinquishes the work to other hands; and that the present Editor has "control over its columns."

It is sufficient to add that the editorial opinions expressed in the Post-Dispatch are those of the Editor of the Post-Dispatch and not of Mr. Pulitzer or any other person.

AN EDITORIAL POLICY.
In an article urging the Japanese Government to have her warships built in American ship yards the Jiji Shimpo, the leading journal of Japan, gives statistics of the greatest interest and suggestiveness to Americans.

It finds that in ten years Japan sold to the United States goods to the value of $24,417,327 yen and to Europe only 217,745,204 yen. But in the same time Japan purchased from Europe goods to the value of $38,866,001 yen and from the United States only $7,890,908 yen. The United States paid to Japan in cash enough to settle Japan's balance with Europe and leave a remainder of nearly 100,000,000 yen. In 1894 alone the balance of trade in favor of Japan as against the United States amounted to $2,340,998 yen.

The Jiji Shimpo says that Japan should buy her warships in the United States in order to show her friendliness to this country and because the United States is the leader of the world in invention and industrial skill and, therefore, Japan is likely to get better warships here than elsewhere.

As an unconscious but pointed reflection on American enterprise the latter reason is excellent. It seems incredible that a nation which leads the world in enterprise, invention and skill should be the largest buyer and the smallest seller in a great market that lies across an open sea from her western gate.

While it is a good idea to build warships for Japan, there is a better use for our ship yards than the building of warships for ourselves or to sell. We need their full capacity to build merchant ships. The idleness of the policy which has driven the American merchant marine from the high seas was never better illustrated than in these statistics of Japanese trade.

In spite of the unreasonable weather, yesterday's Sunday Post-Dispatch kept up its record of growing prosperity. It contained 90 columns of advertising, as compared with the same number of columns in the corresponding Sunday a year ago when the weather was propitious. Of these, 58 columns were the announcements of the enterprising merchants of St. Louis, as compared with 49 columns of similar advertising in the Sunday Republic. Of the people's "Want Ads" the Sunday Post-Dispatch contained 22 columns, the Sunday Republic 15 columns and the Sunday Globe-Democrat 26 columns. The fact that the Sunday Post-Dispatch is the best medium in St. Louis for satisfying the people's wants is becoming better understood each week. Of reading matter and pictures the Sunday Post-Dispatch contained 177 columns, the Sunday Globe-Democrat 158 columns and the Sunday Republic 164 columns. These figures explain why the Sunday Post-Dispatch enjoys a circulation so much larger than either of its contemporaries.

THE CHICKAMAUGA DEDICATION.
Perhaps the greatest and certainly the best memorial to the soldiers of a nation will be practically completed this week in the dedication of Chickamauga National Park.

The Chickamauga Park is twenty-two miles long and embraces the battlefield of Chickamauga, Orchard Knob, Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge, Brown's Ferry and Wauhatchie. These fields have been carefully staked out with the positions of the armies engaged. Many of the guns used in the engagements have been placed in position and it is expected that all will be in time. Tablets and monuments will commemorate particular actions, so that the park will be a panorama of the great battles fought within its boundaries.

The idea of turning the fields of decisive battles of the late war into national parks is a happy one and has been excellently inaugurated at Chickamauga. They will be treasure houses of historical relics and reminiscences and memorials not of the victories of one side but of the heroisms of both sides—the splendid fighting qualities of the American soldier.

These parks will be historic grounds, where the men of the North and the men of the South, trained with memories of those who met in battle, can meet in peace and cherish a common heritage of glory.

THE SCHOOL ELECTION.
The legal side of the question of holding a School Board election seems in such a tangle that none but legal experts can straighten it out, but on the moral side there can be but one view of the School Board's duty. The election should be held if it is possible to do so.

Reasonable terms for the office of School Director have been fixed by the Board. As long as the rules designate this term it is a vital point in sound public policy to adhere to it. If the Board permits the rule to be violated in this instance it will set a dangerous precedent for the future. Whenever it may suit the majority of the Board to hold together for any purpose, good or bad, the election may be passed and the precedent of this Board pleaded in justification of it.

If, for any except insurmountable obstacles the Board passes the election and permits directors whose terms expire under the rule to retain office, a color of truth will be given to the charge that it is the intention of the majority to effect certain personal and political objects by this means. It will open the door to future abuses and will go far to demonstrate that the School Board cannot be trusted to control its elections and that if the present law does not deprive it of this control a law must be passed that will.

THE ARMENIAN ATROCITIES.
The world's attention has these days been called to greater horrors than those reported by the Armenian correspondents of the Post-Dispatch and World. It is doubtful if the long record of Turkish crime and cruelty in Greece, Bulgaria and other dependencies can show the equal of these atrocities.

The imagination of men who in any measure enjoy the blessing of good government and security from oppression cannot grasp the horrors of the situation of the Armenians, whose government is a scourge and the officials and soldiers of which are licensed criminals of the most depraved type. They can only read and shudder.

But the report does not merely represent the courageous act of the solitary correspondent who has dared and has been able to brave and evade Turkish authority in penetrating into Armenia, and a great stroke of newspaper enterprise in securing facts which could not otherwise be secured, but it is rich with the indignation of the civilized world and will bring the governments of Europe to a keener realization of their responsibilities in connection with the Ottoman Porte.

The outrages on the Armenians are not caused by a mere outbreak of savagery thirsting for rapine and vengeance, but are inflicted by the officials and soldiers, with the sanction of the Turkish Government, for the devilish purpose of destroying the Armenian Christians. The Mohammedan authorities of Armenia are given license to do this in their own way and to glut their lust and hatred in doing it.

The letter of our correspondent brings this out clearly and dispels the blot which will rest upon England and her associates in the Berlin treaty if they do not promptly make effective interference. The letter makes it plain that the further support of the Turkish Government by a civilized power is dishonour.

Chauncey Depew, who doubtless talked the matter over with the Kaiser, brings back with him the intelligence that the Germans have a deep-seated and almost passionate desire for war with France. The German republic, which is certain to come in the course of time, might be considerably delayed by such a war. Mr. Depew should have raised his voice for peace while he was in the Empire.

Mary Ellen Lease may not always be accurate in her statements, as, like those of other politicians, they may sometimes be made in haste, but her assertion that Missouri is the greatest and grandest of all the States will be indorsed by every Missourian. Mrs. Lease is entitled to free passage on all the big red apple trains.

It would be much better for esteemed contemporaries not to try to hitch onto the Post-Dispatch in order to increase their circulation. Such attempts merely advertise that the circulation of this paper is greater than theirs.

The New York Republican platform will congratulate the party upon the day dawn of prosperity. Its framers could not help doing this, but they are careful not to mention the redoubled tariff as the harbinger of the dawn.

It appears that the Government has been defrauded in its sugar experiments. There seems to be something peculiarly satanic about American sugar. It is mixed into all sorts of rascality.

If the President has ever had any intention to call Congress together in extra session, he ought not to have delayed the matter until this late date, even to go fishing.

Gov. Bookwalter thinks that Campbell was put up in Ohio in order to get rid of him as a presidential possibility, but Senator Brice may know of another reason.

We have had almost enough gold shipment scares to get used to them, but somehow the alarm does not diminish. Monometallism will always be a menace.

Just when we are beginning to recover from some of the evil effects of Republican legislation is no time to talk of putting Republicans in power.

It seems hard to convert the engineers to smoke abatement. Possibly a law reaching them as well as their employers would have a good effect.

The Best in the Valley.
From the Booneville (Mo.) Advertiser.
The people of Missouri certainly have one able metropolitan newspaper, loyal to their best and highest interests, and earnest and fearless in its advocacy of the cardinal doctrines of pure Democracy. That paper is the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Under the editorial management of Col. Charles H. Jones, that strong and courageous champion of Jeffersonian doctrine, the Post-Dispatch is steadily increasing in circulation, and is constantly growing in favor in every section of the State. It may be truly said that, whenever the Democrats of Cooper County decide to see their political sentiments faithfully reflected and enriched, they turn to the columns of this great daily, now acknowledged to be the best newspaper in the Mississippi Valley.

From the Cape Girardeau Gazette, Sept. 12.
To-day is the thirty-eighth anniversary of the Mountain Meadows massacre of 12 Arkansas emigrants—men, women and children—by a horde of fanatical Mormons and savage Indians. The story is told with vivid realism in last Sunday's Post-Dispatch, and presents a fearful picture of the transformation of human beings by religious bigotry and fanatical intolerance into incarnate fiends.

The People's Favorite.
From the Fayette (Mo.) Leader.
We have never seen a greater improvement in any paper than in the Post-Dispatch since Col. Jones took charge of it, and as long as Col. Jones pursues his present policy the people will continue to patronize his paper.

Girlhood.
From Good Words.
Thine eyes are filled with dreams. Shadowed by tresses of unbroken hair. Like grass by woodland streams—Thy look is thoughtfulness unstained with care.
Clear on thy face
Are written tenderness and love and grace.
As in the dawn's first glow
A forecast of the glorious day we see,
So with a glance we know
The perfect womanhood
Thou knowest we see.
Whether it with the green
Of youth, or with the gray
Of age, thy face
Shall be a joy to me.

WELL-KNOWN ST. LOUISANS.

Joseph W. Goddard.

Joseph W. Goddard was born in Brookline, Mass., 55 years ago. He was for many years connected with the firm of Samuel D. Davis & Co., in various capacities. In 1874 he assisted in the formation of the wholesale grocery firm of Wm. Goddard & Co. In 1880 this firm was changed to Goddard, Peck & Co., now the Goddard-Peck Grocery Co. Mr. Goddard has been president of the Associated Wholesale Grocers since and a director in the same body since its formation. He is a member of the Unitarian Club.

MEN OF MARK.

Tommy: "Wouldn't it be better to say that I have only one new brother?" Then I can stay home a day next week for the other one."—Fliegende Blätter.

QUITE STRANGERS NOW.
Postmaster Donaldson Pleads Guilty.
Post-office Inspector Johnston reports that Walter C. Donaldson pleaded guilty to the charge of embezzling $400 while assistant postmaster at Wichita, Kan., in December, 1894. He was sentenced to two years in the United States Penitentiary at Leavenworth. When Donaldson fled to Florida and was arrested at Miami, he was charged with stealing the Corbett-Mitchell fight. He slipped back to Kansas and under a false name started a chicken farm. He was arrested by Sheriff, but escaped and was caught by Postoffice Inspector Cochran at Garretts, Kan.

FOUND HIM A CRIPPLE.

Affecting Meeting Between Father and Son After Years of Separation.

That truth is oft times stranger than fiction John Bennett, a cripple at the City Hospital, can attest. Both of Bennett's legs are cut off. Yesterday afternoon, after having searched for his father all his life, Bennett was brought face to face with him. Bennett had carved his name into the wall of the City Hospital, and in the sun with them Saturday morning when a fellow-patient said: "I see by your crutches that your name is Bennett. I know an old man by the name of Bennett who is living with his family in Memphis."

"You find him, and if he's my father I'll give you $250," said Bennett. The patient left the hospital that day and went to work in a cooper shop in East St. Louis. There, to his surprise, he saw Bennett, his old Memphis acquaintance. He told him of the cripple at the City Hospital, and Bennett called there Sunday afternoon. There was an affecting scene, for Bennett, the cooper, was indeed the father of the cripple.

The Bennett originally lived in Jonesburg, Mo., when John was a little fellow. Only 4 years old, his mother and father separated. John was taken by his mother, but when he was old enough to care for himself he left her. At Gordon, Ark., last winter, he was run over and crippled by a train. His father had married again, as also his mother. Bennett's father says he will call Monday afternoon and take him to his home at 288 South Broadway. Old Mrs. Bennett is now living at 1115 Cass avenue.

MURDERESS HANGED.
Minnie Dean Executed for Horrible Crimes in New Zealand.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, Sept. 18.—Minnie Dean, who was condemned to death for the murder of infants entrusted to her care, has been executed in Invercargill, Auckland, New Zealand. She protested her innocence until the last.

Clemency was asked on account of the murderess being a woman, but the proof against her was overwhelming. She was hanged by the neck. The drop fell and she died. The woman was a native of New Zealand, and was married to a man who was a cooper. She was a very bad woman, and was known for her crimes.

Minnie Dean's crimes were the sensation of last year in New Zealand. In her property she was a miser. She was a very bad woman, and was known for her crimes. She was a very bad woman, and was known for her crimes.

Baked potatoes require a hot oven and from thirty to forty-five minutes cooking. This makes them perfectly possible in the case of a woman who is a miser. She was a very bad woman, and was known for her crimes.

PICKLED OYSTERS.
One hundred and fifty oysters salted to the taste, let simmer until oysters are heated, take the oysters out, add to the juice one pint of vinegar, one ounce of sugar, three dozen whole cloves, three dozen whole peppercorns, let come to boil, then cool and add oysters.

CREPON STOCKINGS.
Crepon is a name to compare with this season. Crepon stockings are among the novelties. They come in all colors and are exquisitely soft and fine to the touch.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.
A Poem Mutilated.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
As a lover of good poetry, it hurts me to see a real poem mutilated. In your Sunday paper, under the heading "The Kingdom of the Blind," I find a poem by Lizzie Doten's works. In the one entitled "The Kingdom of the Blind" the third verse has been spoiled by the dropping out of two lines. It should read, as I remember it:

"Aboard" cries our pilot and leader;
"There's a light ahead, but we're in a jam."
We're in a jam, and we're in a jam,
We're in a jam, and we're in a jam.

Elise Clouse's Petition.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In your news columns on Sept. 15 you characterized the petition of Elise Clouse, a 12-year-old girl, urging the removal of the main house of ill-fame near her home as a terrible excess of zeal. It also appears that the petition, put in this form by the Pure Home Association, has made the city officials indignant, and that the police are expected to "leave the house alone."

USED TWO KNIVES.
Thomas Rillinger, a cook, 50 years old, resorted to a most original method of ending his life at his boarding place, 420 South Second street, Sunday afternoon. He took two large butcher knives and throwing his head back upon his neck, he was stretched to its utmost, he ran the knives across his throat in opposite directions. Each weapon inflicted a huge gash, one severing the windpipe.

Some time later, Rillinger's landlady forced open the door of his room and found him in a pool of blood on the floor. He had been sent to the City Hospital, where at 7 o'clock Monday morning he died.

Rillinger had been out of work for some months, but had been promised a place as cook Saturday. When he called there on that day he was told to return Sunday, which he did, but was told that after all he could not have the promised position. He went back to his room and killed himself.

THE POULTRY SHOW.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Allow me to call the attention of "Interested" parties to the fact that the St. Louis Poultry Show, held at the Fair Grounds, October 1 to 12, is a grand poultry show of 4,000 head of the best breeds of fowls. It is an exhibition of the highest quality, and is a most interesting and profitable one. It is a most interesting and profitable one. It is a most interesting and profitable one.
